GIRL TELLS ACCUSED DOCTOR'S LOVE STORY

Bride Collapses as Alleged Poisoner Goes to Jail

COWARDICE OF VOLTURNO CREW CAUSED DEATH OF PASSENGERS

CHAUFFEUR POWERS OF HELD FOR ACCIDENT TO GIRL

Says He Saw Young Woman, but Thought She Would Stop for Machine.

H. C. Brown, the chauffeur who ran down and seriously injured Miss Mary Hughes, No. 17 West Cain street, Saturday afternoon, was placed in custody late Monday morning after an order had been issued by Assistant U. S. Commissioner Jett that he be found. Chief Jett's order was not given until Otto Von B. Dingelhoefer, an attorney in the Candler Building and owner of the automobile, had fulfilled its promise to produce the driver. Brown, who is 17 years old, said he had been driving at 45 miles an hour. To the police he admitted that before Miss Hughes, but thought she would stop to let him pass. He denied that he was speeding.

Drapes Publicity.

Brown was brought to the police station by Dingelhoefer. Both refused to give out any statement for publication.

The attorney deplored the publicity that had already been given to the young woman's accident.

"There has been too much said about the accident already," he said.

The chauffeur was charged with reckless driving, and is being held pending the report of the coroner. Dingelhoefer was sent to Miss Hughes' home to ascertain the extent of her injuries. The amount of his bond will be determined by this report.

At least 100 cases of automobile accidents resulting from reckless driving, Assistant Chief of Police Jett issued strict orders to the men in charge of traffic to be on the alert and make cases against every automobile driver whom they observed exceeding the speed limit or in any other way violating the traffic regulations.

Hides His Identity.

The chauffeur was not learned of the time of the accident. They relied upon the word of his employer, Attorney Dingelhoefer, that he had given the name of his present chauffeur to Captain Jett Monday morning, when a case might be made against the chauffeur and the hearing set for a trial on Tuesday. Dingelhoefer refused to certify in respect to the accident.

When Dingelhoefer and his chauffeur failed to appear early Monday morning, Captain Jett ordered Dingelhoefer to have the man arrested. Mayne to have a posse man sent after the chauffeur, after allowing a reasonable time for him to show up. Captain Arthur was detailed to get the driver.

Must Stop Speeding.

Chief Jett declared that he was not going to take any chances on the safety of the public, and for this reason ordered an officer sent for him.

"Reckless speeding must stop," said the chief. "Secretary of State William J. Bryan passed through Asheville early this morning en route to Washington, desiring to speak to Congress concerning the situation demanded his presence there. Further than this Secretary Bryan would not be quoted. He can't be quoted on any agreements that he had in Virginia to back up his claim."

Powers Prepare to Act as Mexican President Overthrows Constitution in Proclamation.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.
MEXICO CITY, Oct. 13.—Victoriano Huerta, provisional President, today proclaimed himself dictator of Mexico and overthrew the constitution.

Huerta issued a decree announcing that he has assumed all the former powers of Congress relating to war, finance and foreign affairs of the nation. He says he will permit the Department of Justice to exercise its usual functions "unless it interferes with his decrees," which will be issued from time to time.

Under the new constitution, exemption of members of Congress from arrest is revoked by the decree, and the dictator proclaims that he alone is the supreme power.

Quick Action Executed.

He pledges himself to make a rapid report of his actions to the next Congress, which will be convened in April.

All of Huerta's powers carry dispatches from Vera Cruz stating that British warships have been seen in the Gulf of California, and the belief is growing that quick and decisive action is to be taken by the powers in the present crisis.

The government is arranging to run the trial of the accused deputies, but this is expected to be a farce in view of Huerta's decree, which virtually says that the Department of Justice must do as he says.

S. Warns Huerta Not to Harm Foes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The United States has served notice on President Huerta, that the Mexican Government must protect the mentioned deputies, and that the Mexican Government will countenance no violence or extreme measures against the political prisoners.

F. Diaz Told of Plot.

General Francisco Diaz, returning to Mexico from Europe, has been warned in a cable dispatch sent to Havana that General Huerta has ordered that he be assassinated.

The dispatch was sent today by friends of Diaz after they had learned that two members of the Mexican secret service had been sent to Vera Cruz.

The situation here was unchanged to-day, with troops and machine guns in readiness in case of any outbreak.

CAPTAIN, PISTOLS DRAWN, KEEPS BURNING SHIP'S SAILORS FROM SEIZING LIFEBOATS

Artist's sketch, from wireless descriptions, of the burning of the Volturno at sea, with the loss of 144 lives. Below is Thomas Inch, the heroic captain of the Volturno, who saved the lives of hundreds of passengers by fighting the panic-stricken crew from the lifeboats.

Dragg Self to Phone To Call Ambulance

After having his right foot crushed in an elevator accident at 1 o'clock Sunday morning, Captain H. L. D. Inch, 35, dragged himself to a telephone and notified the Grady Hospital to send an ambulance for him.

Under the circumstances, the captain of the Volturno, who is the 35-year-old son of Captain Jones, a night watchman in the Andrews Building, No. 195 Marietta street, where the accident occurred.

Buenos Ayres Ready To Honor Roosevelt

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 13. The City Social Argentine has rapidly prepared arrangements for the reception of Colonel Roosevelt, and committees have been named in all the principal cities to make the distinguished visitor's visit through the Argentine Republic a success.

The charge of Walter Trintegpoli, a steagre passenger, who was picked up by the Carmelita, that members delayed several hours because of a storm in the Atlantic, was denied by the Carmelita until Captain Inch drew his revolver. The charge was borne out by other facts.

Twenty-five members of the crew of the Carmelita were saved. Thus, of those on board, 100 were saved, while 44 per cent of the crew of the Trintegpoli six sailors were killed while fighting the flames. The test died as a result of their own cowardice.

Sailors in Wild Panic.

Most of the seamen on the Volturno were Germans and Belgians. When they saw that the ship had gone to the bottom, they fled in panic.

After Captain Inch gave orders for the boats and had instructed his crew to see that women and children were put into the boats, the wildly seamen made a dash for the boats and scrambled in. The officers and men fought to repel some of the waves of persons.

AUTO TRIPS OF BARRON WITH GIRL PROBED

Physician Declared to Have Been Out Riding as Wife Lay on Deathbed.

By a Staff Correspondent.

GRIMM, GA., Oct. 13.—Investigation into the Barron poison mystery took a sharp turn Monday morning into the courtroom of Dr. A. C. Barron and Miss Cora Wheeler, of Conyers, his bride of a week, which the authorities declare is as mysterious as the strange death of the young physician's first wife, whom he is accused of poisoning.

This inquiry is being conducted in Henry and Rockdale Counties with the view of obtaining evidence of clandestine meetings to refute statements of Dr. Barron that he never made love to Miss Wheeler prior to the death of his wife and his hasty marriage to the Conyers girl the day following the funeral.

While the accused physician insists that he was never in the company of Miss Wheeler but one time after he met her the first of September, relatives of the dead wife and the authorities are in possession of positive proof, they say, that he was with her continually. With his wife he was riding with his horse when he was with the horse of Friday afternoon, when he was 200 miles away, while his wife lay dying with convulsions.

They also are being made to verify information that Dr. Barron took the girl to a show in Conyers that same night or afternoon before his marriage to her. His lawyer, Dr. W. G. Relatives of the dead woman and officers brand the doctor's story as ridiculous and claim the doctor's story that he had never made love to Miss Wheeler did not hold true at the time of his marriage.

The machine, with no one to control it, fell to earth.

Remarried Day After Wife's Funeral 'For Children's Sake'

DEATHS IN SHIP FIRE LAID TO CREW

Vulturno's Captain, Pistols Drawn,
Halted Mad Rush of Cowardly
Sailors to Lifeboats.

Ship's Owners Fix Death List at 144

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Cable dispatches received from the Vulturno to-day indicated that 144 persons perished in the Vulturno disaster. There were 561 passengers aboard and a crew of 93. The rescued passengers number 485 and 25 of the crew were saved, leaving 76 passengers and 68 of the crew unaccounted for.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.

FISHERGATE, WALES, Oct. 13.—All the passengers of the burned Union liner Vulturno could have been saved but for the cowardice of her crew.

That more than 500 persons, the bulk of the passengers, were saved was due largely to the heroic behavior of the Vulturno's captain, Captain Thomas Finch.

These facts were learned here this afternoon on the arrival of the British liner Carmania, which had been to the rescue of the Vulturno, call and rush to his assistance. The Carmania was delayed several hours because of a storm that was raging in the Atlantic.

The captain of the Vulturno, however, was picked up by the Carmania, that members of the crew fought their places in lifeboats until Captain Finch, his twenty-five members of the crew who were lame, were borne out by other facts. Twenty-five members of the crew of 144 were lame. Thus, of the 144 who perished, 100 were lame. According to Tripartite six sailors were killed while fighting the flames. The rest died as a result of their own cowardice.

Sailors in Wild Panic.

Most of the seamen on the Vulturno were Germans and Belgians. When they saw that the ship was about to go down, they fled to the boats. After Captain Finch had given orders to lower the boats and had instructed his officers to see that women and children were safe, he went to the bridge and sent a man ashore for the boats and scrambled in. The officers used their feet, but were overcome. When Captain Finch saw the progress of the fire, he ran to the deck, took his coat, drew his revolver and threatened to kill the first sailor who interfered with the passengers.

Sailors were panic-stricken. However, it was the men, and when the call was given for men to take charge of the fourth and fifth boats there was a mad forward which overwhelmed the men in charge.

The hull of the Vulturno was staved and this hell intensified the heat of the fire. The hull became red hot from the inside. The fire spread to the engine and after deck and was so hot that all the survivors suffered from such burns.

The smoke on the heated hull caused clouds of steam to arise which made the passengers fear they would be scalded.

Captain Finch, commander of the "Armament," which served as the flagship of the rescue squadron, said there was no hope that either of the lifeboats that left the Vulturno before he arrived could have escaped.

Congressman Joins
In Plea for Slayer;
'White Man's Negro'

A delegation of nearly 100 men, headed by Congressman William Schley Howard, Attorney L. J. Steele, and the Sheriff of DeKalb County, asked Governor Slaton to commute the death sentence of George Oliver, a negro, on the ground that he was a "white man's negro."

The fact that he was known as a white man's negro did not save him.

The negro was convicted of the murder of Oscar Williams, another negro, Governor Slaton withheld his decision.

Radical Reforms Asked in Big Meeting to Change Present
Deplorable Conditions.

Indorsement of a special school tax plan and the inauguration of a campaign to mould public sentiment in Monroe to demand an improvement of public school conditions were the features of the meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs at the Atlanta Woman's Club Building Monday.

After a general discussion of the poor buildings and the over-crowded conditions of Atlanta's schools Mrs. J. K. Ricker offered a resolution setting forth a definite plan of action among other things the resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, are:

Keep Tab on Needs.
Reorganize Atlanta's schools
so our children and as the schools are so will the future if these childrren are well educated.

Because the City Council of Atlanta has formally involved the aid of women citizens of Atlanta in this department alone of the city's life by establishing the Board of Lady Visitors of the City.

"Resolved, That a lookout committee be appointed by the president of the City Council to visit the Women's Club meetings of a number of clubs in each ward of the city to keep in touch with their own schools and report upon them from time to time."

Suggesting a line of work for the lookout committee, the resolutions continue:

"The need of more space for the printing, writing and distribution of Atlanta's army of school children; both white and colored."

Urge Special Tax.

The joint resolution increasing personal fitness and professional equipment in our growing corps of teachers.

Other resolutions suggest a special school tax and urge that the Board of Education or whatever body has charge of the schools be left free from control from Council and other offices.

COUNSEL FOR ACCUSED PHYSICIAN BEGS PUBLIC TO SUSPEND JUDGMENT

DR. BARRON DECLARES HE TOOK BRIDE TO CARE FOR CHILDREN

Dr. Cary A. Barron Monday, in his cell at McDonough, gave to The Georgian the following remarkable explanation of his marriage the day after the death of the wife he is accused of having poisoned:

"I never spoke a word of love to my present bride while my late wife lived. When my wife died I thought of the welfare of my children and decided to marry again in order that they might have a mother and might be under my direct care. As Miss Wheeler had impressed me favorably I thought she would make a good mother for the children, and after the funeral I drove to Conyers and asked her if she would marry me. She said she would, declaring at the same time that she would love me, and I saw no reason under the circumstances for waiting longer."

I had never loved Miss Wheeler before the death of my wife, but I loved her from the moment we were married. I have grown to love her more and more. My only thought now is to clear my name and live for her and my little children."

such awful stigma and lie for her and my sweet little children."

As to the charge that he married again so quickly, Barron stated that he was attending a medical college and while his wife was with her people in Milner, Dr. Barron would not have been able to get away from his studies to go to Conyers.

He also denied that he had any statement as to his alleged elopement with a married woman last January and the ensuing separation from his wife.

"I have nothing whatever to say," was his sole comment.

Doctor's Courtship Under Investigation

GRIFFITH COOPER, investigating attorney into the Barron poison mystery took a sharp turn Monday morning when he interviewed Dr. Cary A. Barron and Miss Cora Wheeler, of whom the dead woman, Monday, is as strong an authority as the strange death of the deceased.

The case against Dr. Barron is unique in that he has no motive, reason that we have the motive. We don't have to prove he killed his wife. He married again the day after my daughter was buried showing conclusively that he did not kill his wife in any way. He was simple in such a business."

"Take me to him. Oh, take me to him," Barron urged.

Again she would plead, "You must save him, because I love him."

"Close by the bed of the mother of the girl is a Maggie Wheeler, a widow, a well-to-do and highly respected woman, who has been caring patiently throughout the day and tenderly ministering to her. Her mother would give way to her emotions and wept when we told her that her daughter Wheeler before her marriage to the doctor had been a widow."

W. A. Wheeler, of Conyers, wife of another member of the family, remained by her side and sought to comfort her. The broad shoulders of the doctor's brother, Dr. George Barron, were greatly distressed over her breakdown.

Asia Calm Judgment. "We are the old, old story most common in the country," said Cooper, in seeking after the interests of the accused. "The doctor though as yet he has not been found guilty of the murder."

"We are going to let the medical men of the case, Colonel Wall, through the Georgia Medical Association. Through the Georgia I wish to see in this case until the facts come out. Wrong and damaging impressions should not be left on the public."

SPECIAL TAX FOR SCHOOLS URGED BY WOMEN

Radical Reforms Asked in Big Meeting to Change Present Deplorable Conditions.

Information of a special school tax plan and the inauguration of a campaign to mold public sentiment in Atlanta to demand an improvement of public schools conditions were the features of the meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs at the Atlanta Woman's Club Building Monday evening.

After a general discussion of the proposed tax, which overrode the conditions of Atlanta's schools Mrs. J. R. O'Gerry offered a resolution setting forth the demands of the organization of members of Congress from areas in which the proposed tax would affect that proclaims that he alone is the supreme power in Mexico.

PRESIDENT ENDS MEETINGS OF HIS CABINET

Wilson Adopts Policy of Individual Consultation With His Secretaries to Save Time.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—In the last few months President Wilson has quietly adopted a policy which he has described as that which has his predecessors to send their messages to Congress in writing. It has discarded the custom of summoning all his secretaries to regularly recurring conferences known as Cabinet meetings.

President Wilson's Cabinet has not met since June 1, and the secretaries as a body constituted themselves with the President and with one another on matters pertaining to a common policy and a common department. This practice has practically ceased.

Cabinet officers have become mere heads of their respective departments, and no longer have consultation by the President on matters within their own bailiwicks or individually with the Administration's policies whenever they desire.

In this shaped period, when the President was facing many of the most important problems that his Administration has had to meet, Mr. Wilson has had content to shoulder the full responsibility for executive action.

Deeds in Own Course.

On Aug. 1, Secretary Bryan was summoned when the Mexican policy was being formulated and Mr. McAdoo when the currency bill was being considered. He has recently decided on his course in those matters without summoning all of his official family to the Cabinet room for purposes of common consultation.

Furthermore, it was learned to-day that the President has no intention of returning in the immediate future the regular Cabinet meetings.

Then President Wilson announced his decision last April to read his tariff revision message to a joint session of the Senate and House, and he was deeply interested in the passing of a custom that had been handed down since the days of Thomas Jefferson.

During Mr. Wilson went to the President's room on the Senate side of the Capitol to confer with members of the upper House on the tariff and import duty bills, and he did so again, although, like the first, based on examples in the early days of the republic, was almost as widely discussed as the first.

The unavoidable predictions as to the President's future right in the conduct of his office did not, however, contemplate the breaking of any precedent that had been established thus far. "The long Jefferson days in the White House."

The Age of the Custom.

The custom of holding regular Cabinet meetings began in the meeting of three Secretaries and the Attorney General, whose offices were created by Congress in the early days of President Washington.

The custom has flourished, since then and one apparently dreamed that this, like the other customs, was to take its place in the regular calendar of the President. President Wilson has established in promoting his new ideas in the administration of executive affairs at Washington.

In the early part of July the Wilson Cabinet failed to assemble twice on the Tuesday and Friday set apart for these meetings at the White House, so it was assumed that the one who was absent from the Capital and the other the President himself was at Cornish, N. H., on a brief vacation. After his return the regular weekly meetings were held on July 10.

Inquiries at the White House in the week succeeding this date brought the information that the President had been in New York City with the members of the Cabinet, studying on matters relating to their departments.

MAYOR SUGGESTS VIADUCT MARKET

Superintendents Considering Month's Respite in Membership Campaign.

Clubwomen, Grocers and Commerce Chamber Behind Movement to Lessen Living Costs.

Superintendents of Atlanta Sunday schools today are discussing enlisting the membership campaign which has been on four months. Although such a spirit of enthusiasm was never before manifested in this connection, it seems to have been born of a desire to do something about the fearfullest things to be overcome, and favor a rest of a few weeks.

A meeting of the Atlanta Sunday school superintendents' Association will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the First Christian Church.

The question of continuing the campaign will be discussed, and it is thought that the same large percentage of increase over last year's attendance as every Sunday of the four months' campaign will be maintained.

The First Christian maintained its hold on second with 793.

Following is the attendance on the various schools:

Young People's Union Takes Charge of Sabbath Evening Service With Much Success.

Young women as ushers in an innovation which has delighted churchgoers at the First Baptist Church and continues during October at the Sunday evening service.

Six pretty girls conduct visitors to their pews and perform such other duties as are usually performed by men. This will include the passing of the collection plates and smiling a welcome to all.

This new feature has been inaugurated with the taking over of the Sunday evening service in October by the Baptist Young People's Union.

The Young People's Union is a sister-active committee of the Young People's Union of the church, in view of the fact that the church is in a critical condition for nearly two weeks after having been in a financial bind.

Any fear of stage fright which might have been entertained by the young usher as they pictured themselves in their new rôle has been dispelled.

PROSPERITY FOR GA. HERALDED BY COL. PEEL

Prosperity in Atlanta and throughout the State was heralded in glowing terms yesterday by Col. W. L. Peel, president of the American National Bank, and Harry

M. Atkinson, vice-president with E. T. Lamb of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad, in a close touch with the money situation here during their statements by their observations.

"Plans of cotton and good prices for it may be the best news in Georgia that not only are the cotton-growers paying their obligations to the large companies, but that even anticipating the date of their crop in many instances," said Col. Peel.

Over weather through October and November, such a crop had not been had in the last few weeks, will launch Georgia's cotton market in a new era, he said.

"Already we have notes which are two and three years old. They will be wiped clean this fall, and that will be the end of the long-standing Georgia problem."

The money now to the country banks from them to Atlanta, and from Atlanta to New York for the past year has been ample for paying their obligation in the East.

BACKACHE IS A DANGER SIGNAL

Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders, Rheumatism and Serious Diseases Follow.

There are other symptoms, such as stiffness, soreness, restlessness, fits, fits of nervousness, dizziness, tiredness, pain in the back, weak bladder, urinary trouble, etc., which are just as dangerous, for the disease, if left untreated and neglected, may develop into the deadly Bright's disease, dropsy or rheumatism.

It is not only dangerous, but most painful, to ignore and ignore the tortures of these troubles, since Croxone promptly ends all such symptoms.

There is no more effective remedy for backache, kidney trouble and rheumatism than Croxone, because it reaches the cause. It acts directly upon the body, passing through the walls and linings of the stomach, dissolving the poisons and neutralizes and dissolves the poison until it is voided, and wastes may never be voided.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. It is reported that it is practically impossible to get rid of backache. An external package of Croxone can't hurt a trifles, and all druggists are agreed that Croxone is the only medicine that it should fall in a single dose.

Of Interest to Women Who Know the Fashions and What Economy Means

A Sale of Dress Trimmings

A sale of dress trimmings! Women who know the fashions know that of all seasons this is one when dresses are to be trimmed.

And so the sale takes on an extraordinary meaning.

It is a remarkable thing to sell dress trimmings at these reductions right in the face of their season.

Included are:

Embroidered Bands
Gold Bands and Edges
Bulgarian Bands
and Edges
Crystal Bands

Beaded Bands
Silver Bands and Edges
Ratine Bands
and Edges
All-over Laces

These all-over laces are 18 inches wide, they are ornamented with beads, embroidery, silver and gold.

The colorings and effects are rich and sumptuous for street and evening dresses.

Lengths of the trimmings and all-overs are one yard to five yards.

Which accounts for the prices—they are odd and short pieces that we will quickly clear away.

A TEN-CENT BOX OF "CASCARETS"

Keeps Your Liver and Bowels Active and You Feel Bully for Months.

Get a 10-cent box. Put aside—just once—the Salts, Potassium, Magnesium, Nitrites which merely force a passage-way through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse the system. Cascarets cleanse these drainage organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your intestine pure and fresh with Cascarets. Cascarets thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undesirable food from the system, expel the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the waste products of the body.

Take Cascarets in the morning when you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep, never gripe, sicken, or tire you. They are a tonic to your digestive. Millions of men and women have used Cascarets and never have Headache, Biliousness, Coated Tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Constipation, Diarrhea, Colds belong in every household. ## EVELYN THAW'S SON BACK IN U. S. WITH HER

"I'll Never Leave Him Again," Mother Cries as She Greets Boy at Pier.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Accompanied by her counsel, John Kelly, her partner, Jack Clifford, and a private detective, Mrs. Evelyn Thaw reached the Central pier in an automobile hours before the Lincolnday boat left for Europe. Her little 4-year-old son, Russell, with his English nurse had reached New York.

When the gangplank was lowered, Mrs. Thaw ran down it to the ship to grasp what she says is the only precious thing in the world—my boy.

They are there, she added, a steaming hot meal.

"I am afraid they have gone to see the doctor," she said. "I am afraid a screen like a frightened animal. Mrs. Thaw rushed to him, threw up her hands and pressed him up to her heart. For a full fifteen minutes she held him close, with the child and the nurse carrying him in her arms.

The immediate occasion of the ban instituted by Father Rapier was the charge by Bishop Benjamin J. Keay of Newark, in New Jersey, that the pastor was doing an "obscene and repugnant to Christian modesty."

He forced Father Rapier to resign from the Mimico, Ontario, church to remove passengers from the Mimico if necessary.

UNDERWOOD AND HOBSON CLASH IN HOUSE

Contributions from Thomas F. Ryan, he is still of the interests—Wilson spurned a contribution from Thomas F. Ryan, Hobson may have once spurned such a contribution," said Underwood, "but if he is running for Governor of New Jersey, he accepted $10,000 from Mr. Ryan." "I do not know what he might refer to Hobson's steady advocacy of all the propaganda of the Tammany and other political interests. Nevertheless, he believed Hobson was right, and he believed Hobson was all right and he did not suspect any Tammany motives."

"In conclusion," said Underwood, "I want to say this to the gentleman from Alabama. 'No matter how much money you have, if you do not intend to indulge in such conduct as that which you have just mentioned, I would like to persuade me to wade with him to the bottom of the ocean.'"

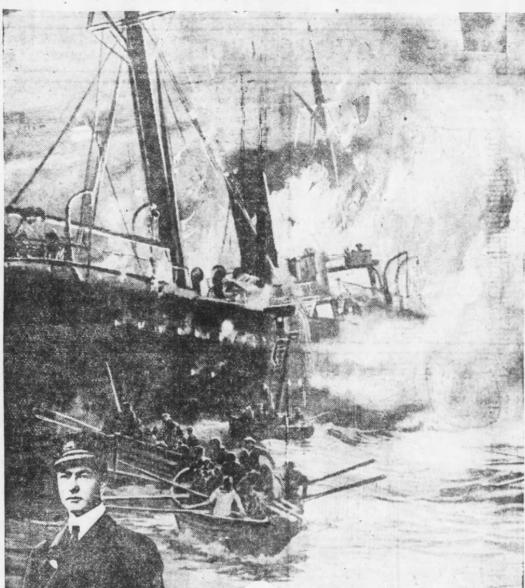

Hobson was cheered vigorously at the close of his speech.

"I am going to stand on the floor to deny the charge made by Representative Wilson that he has been absent from his district since April 1, 1907," he declared. "I have been in the lecture platform.

VOLTURNO CAPTAIN KEPT COWARDS IN CREW FROM SEIZING LIFEBOATS

Artist's sketch, from wireless descriptions, of the burning of the Volturno at sea, with the loss of 144 lives. Below is Thomas Inch, the heroic captain of the Volturno, who saved the lives of hundreds of passengers by fighting the panic-stricken crew in the lifeboats.

Heavy weather, but would proceed uneventful to our port.

Volturno Fire Due to Explosion in Hold.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Cable dispatches received from the Uranium line to-day indicated that 144 persons perished in the Volturno disaster. There were 561 passengers aboard and a crew of 120. The accident occurred at number 485 and 25 of the crew were saved, leaving 76 passengers and 68 of the crew unaccounted for.

Afternoon on the arrival of the Carmina, the first ship to pick up survivors, the crew were sent ashore to get her assistance. The Carmina was delayed several hours because of a strong wind.

The charge of Walter Trimbach, a steamer passenger who was picked up by the Carmina, was that the crew fought for places in the lifeboats, and that the lifeboat recovered was borne out by other facts. Twenty-five members of the crew of 120 were saved, while 118 were perished; 68 were women. According to the Carmina, the crew were fighting the flames. The rest died as a result of their own cowardice.

Sailors in Wild Panic.

After the explosion, the survivors were Germans and Belgians. When they saw that the ship was doomed, they ran to the deck and began to shout. Captain Inch had given orders to his officers to see that women and children were cared for first, the crew were cared for last, the men last. The officers and men were scattered about the deck, some in boats and a number of them swimming.

When Captain Inch saw the performance repeated in the second class, he ordered the crew to go to the deck and to help to get the first sailor who fell into the water. Sailors were needed, however, to move the carts, and when the cart was moved, the sailors were needed to move the fourth and fifth boats; there was a constant struggle between the sailors and the officers in charge.

The hull was steel and iron, and when it became red hot, it exploded like a bomb.

The hull became red hot, and the fire spread through the deck and after deck, and was so hot that all the survivors suffered from it.

The waves dashed on the heated hull, and when the waves hit the hull, which made the passengers fear they would be scalped by the commander of the Carmina, which served as the flag ship, they were saved.

There was no hope but that of the lifeboats that left the Volturno.

The sea was so high that they probably went down in a few minutes, he said.

There was a great silence as the vast tanks of oil were consumed, and the sight of Captain Harry upon the bridge of the Carmina, which served as the flag ship, was a somber one.

Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK.

WEPE, sed Pa to Ma last night, eig you ever happen to note that my eyes are not unlike the feature of an Indian?

No, I never did see Ma I care nothing that pure aborigines are like those of India, but I care nothing that but I don't think you're looks like Indian face.

Haven't you ever noticed that my cheek bones are a trifle high & my nose is steeper & hooked like my eyes peering

Not at all, said Ma. Goodness know your eyes do look very peering this morning, but I care nothing in them in glance. Why, sed Ma, why are you me all these foolish questions?

Well, said Pa, I wish you'd tell me if you & Bobbie promise not to take what I tell you about? I care told this after noon by a very wise old man.

I care on this earth five hundred years ago, & that at that time I was a famous Indians, & I care the name of Wisconsin.

She told me that I ruled

How romantic, sed Ma. Just think,

Bobbie, your father used to be a father before we got married, & I care nothing that he was a soldier, & I care nothing that he was a camp fire man, & I care nothing that he was a smoking a pipe & making fat time there was a squaw that loved him very much, & I care nothing that he

No Cowardly Repeal of Our New Shipping Policy! No Surrender to Foreign Threats!

"American shipping is for the future to have a preference of 5 per cent on all cargoes." That is the most significant fact for international shipping. It is the first step in the direction of a policy which will be a challenge to all foreign shipping. We have long enjoyed as carriers for the world. Let us challenge it by the same vigorous adherence she made to our cause in the trade and other industries a thing of the past." — From THE DAILY MAIL GAZETTE OF LONDON, ENGLAND.

There must be no striking of the American merchant marine flag! There must be no repeal of the 5 per cent discrimination provided by the new tariff law in favor of American shipping! There must be no interpretation of that clause—the most important and about the only beneficial clause in the new tariff bill—that will nullify the expressed intent of Congress to begin the restoration of the American merchantman on all the seven seas! There must be no abject retreat in Washington BECAUSE THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION HAS DECIDED TO DO NOTHING THAT MAY BE DISPLEASING TO GREAT BRITAIN!

Of course the foreign protests will come. They began coming the instant foreign governments learned of the existence of this provision in the earliest drafts of the tariff bill. Now they are being repeated and pressed. The million dollars a day that America is paying foreign shipowners for carrying its overseas commerce is worth protesting about. It is worth fighting for by every method of intimidation, by every sinister influence that can be brought to bear on an American President and Congress.

But if it is worth such a struggle by foreign interests, it is worth a greater struggle by America. What was effective and constitutional and honorable in the presidencies of Washington and Jefferson is equally effective, constitutional and honorable today. The policy that we have for seventy-two years carrying 80 per cent of our entire foreign commerce will restore us again to the position of a dominant merchant marine power on all the oceans. The Pall Mall Gazette, as quoted above, reconsiders the potency of the American challenge. The flood of foreign protests proves the power of the weapon.

The fight that early began over this section in the tariff—the most significant fact in it, as the Tony Pall Mall Gazette so frankly admits, and therefore the most profitable for America—has already been waged bitterly. First the section was left in the bill, then it was dropped, again restored, and at the last maintained only by the most sturdy courage of Chairman Underwood and two or three other stalwart champions of American progress. This newspaper and its allied newspapers have fought incessantly and unflinchingly for the very life of our shipping. Only a few days ago we declared that the fight of foreign governments representing foreign shipping interests would be continued even after the passage of the tariff law carrying this hope to our life afloat. And the pressure has come steadily, imperiously, and menacing.

The "free ships" which we are told have been guaranteed by more than twenty treaties, nearly all negotiated before 1850, long ago became a dead phœnix owing to the devious methods of governments which have made little or no effort to live up to the spirit of the agreements. Great Britain subsidizes its vast merchant fleets in many ways, going so far as to lend its millions for the construction of Cunard monster vessels on the easiest possible terms. Germany, with its government-owned railroads, grants preferred rates on these railroads to all merchantmen for export in German ships. Japan is subsidizing its Pacific merchant fleets to an extent which has left only five American ships regularly in the trans-Pacific trade.

But already, within a few days of the passage of the bill, there is talk of repealing THE BEST PART OF IT. In this talk the Administration and the State Department appear to lead. But it was understood that the President and the State Department fully concurred in the settlement of the final tariff conferences. WHAT IS THERE TO JUSTIFY SO SUDDEN AND COWARDLY A SURRENDER?

IS IT THE LAMENTABLE BUT OBVIOUS FACT THAT OUR PRESENT ADMINISTRATION WILL DO NOTHING AT ALL THAT IS DISPLEASING TO ENGLAND?

Is it that Germany has gone so far as to declare that she will not consent to an interpretation by United States courts of the scope of this discriminating section in our tariff? Does our many one of whose steamship companies sold to Spain during the Spanish-American war, a number of its vessels that had been trading with America, think that the United States has no rights upon the seas? Has the "nailed fist" the same sinister influence in Washington as it has in Pekin?

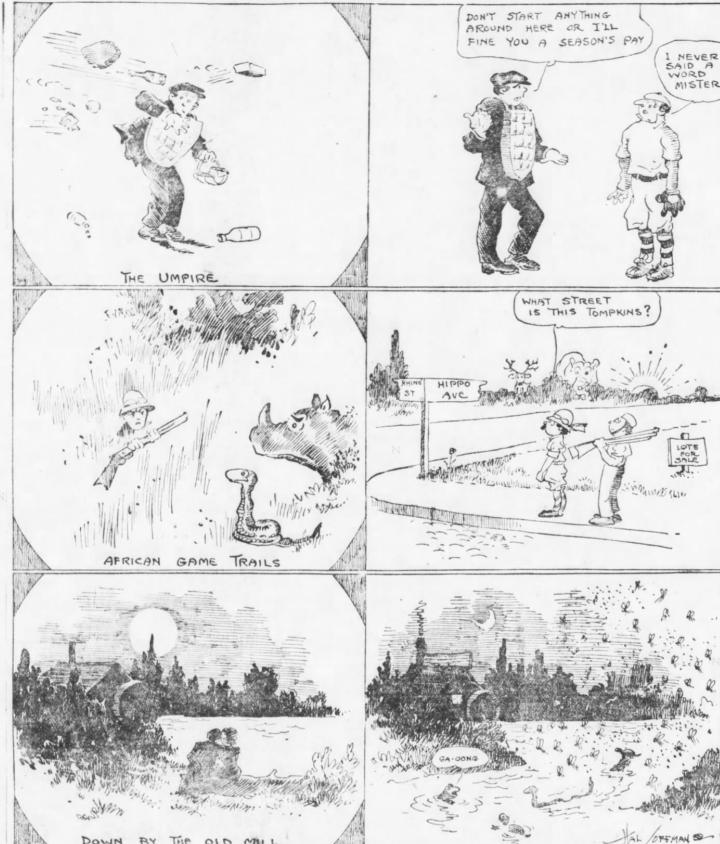

Or is it that France, paying her vessels a navigation bounty of $15 cents a ton on each hundred miles outboard and homeward—a bounty that drove many an American ship off the Pacific—has threatened to retaliate?

Or, if it is true that France and Russia and Brazil are the only countries that will be especially hurt, is not the answer plain? That we must begin by building up our merchant marine at the expense of France and Russia and Brazil, it is a perfectly legitimate commercial policy, which this small beginning will enable us in due time to use with England and Germany and the rest. That ultimately existing treaties must be amended or abrogated so that the American ship shall not rot in its dock.

Or is this talk of a panicky retreat due to the begrudging of ten million dollars from the new tariff revenue, a sum which it is claimed will be temporarily sacrificed? What are these ten millions against the three hundred millions we pay annually to foreign ships? What are these ten millions against the first real effort in half a century to re-establish a merchant marine that has been starved almost to death?

This tariff bill has been passed without any provision for

In "Reel" Life &amp; In Real Life

A Book for Every Citizen

By REV. C. F. AKED, D. D.

JACK LONDON's "Jaded Heart" is a book which every chosen soul should read. It is more than a book; it is a living thing. It is a confession. It is a challenge. It is an inspiration. In such a world as this we have to defend ourselves many things, but few of us are so bankrupt of money or time that we need to do more than exercise a general interest and palpitating human sentiment.

Jack London says that two years ago he came with the last party that gave the vote to the annexation of California. He was twenty-four years old, and he had at least one good home and two good jobs when he left. And he gave that same innocent he believed in the rightness of his cause, and he would make it impossible for him to leave the line of sin hereafter to eat other drink or half-drink.

For twenty years, he says, the same desire to follow his original path remained in his blood a desire for alcohol. It took ten years for the desire to fatten him up, and then he was fat. At first, and for many years, he did not want alcohol. He tried to want to want it, but he could not. He tried to persuade himself that he could like it. And for a long time failed. But the customs of all our social life, the social system—were to drink. He was driven to drink him. He was driven to drink him.

The "system" is ubiquitous, omnipresent, universal—anything you like to call it. The system is everywhere. It is everywhere. And the system gets other men. And will continue to get them—until women sweep the system.

As a boy he did not like the drink. As a youth he did not want it. As a man he could do without it. For ten years, he says, the twentieth century must make an end to it forever.

While the system remains boys and men will fall a victim to it.

He says that he is very sure.

He says that it is like an unbroken web in a sort where children play.

And he says,

"It is small, use to tell the brave little boy bairing them were along into knowledge of life that they must not play over the unbroken web.

They will play near.

Any parent knows that.

We have to live in ignorance of them, the lives and most during will fall into the web.

The things to do—we all know the things to do—but the case is the same with John Barleycorn.

The only rational thing for the twentieth century falls to do is to cover up the web to make it impossible for the young to scratch the twentieth century, and to relegate to the nineteenth century, and all the preceding centuries, the sins, the vices, the cruelties, the witch-burnings, the inhumanities, the felicities, and not least among such baronies, John Barleycorn.

As relentless a war should be declared upon alcohol as society is now waging against tuberculosis or syphilis, says Jack London.

And he knows what he is talking about.

He knows the drinking game to Z—so he says, "I am a drunk."

Like a survivor of old red War who cries out, "Let there be no more war!" Jack London cries:

"Let there be no more alcohol."

The way to stop war is to stop it.

The way to stop drinking is to stop it.

The way China stopped the general opium traffic was by closing the cultivation and importation of opium.

The philosophers, priests and doctors of China could have nothing to do with it.

They closed the ports.

They closed the borders.

They closed the cities.

They closed the villages.

They closed the towns.

They closed the country.

They closed the world.

They closed the ocean.

They closed the sky.

They closed the sun.

They closed the moon.

They closed the stars.

They closed the universe.

They closed the world.

They closed the world.
